

“Liesbet experiments with photography, with our observation on reality through photography, with the influence of time on photography, with the act of making photography... but it doesn't crystalize on a merely reflection of the medium itself. Her works continues to rethink perceptions, through aleatoric methods of making and reading images.”